Having been appointed agent for the above Company, I respectfully call the attention of the citizens of this section of North Carolina, to the fact that this is a Southern Company with an authorized Capital of $500,000. The State of North Carolina.

If there has been any one trait of character that has distinguished the people of North Carolina, in the past, it has been an ardent filial affection for the soil of their nativity, and an honest, modest pride in the fair name of their good old Mother. Many of them have been forced, by the pressure of circumstances or the current of events, to leave her borders and seek a home in other regions, but the hearts of her expatriated children, "untravelled, have always fondly turned" to the land of their birth. This devotion of her sons has been a passion,—a noble, generous, whole-souled passion. And most worthy and fitly has it been bestowed. What an untarnished escutcheon,—how lustrous a name,—how dignified, manly, consistent and conservative a record—have been those of our own "Old North State!"

One of the old thirteen,—among the first to throw off the allegiance to foreign power,—the scene of the first Declaration of Independence, anterior, by a year, to the National manifesto,—her bosom was seamed with the scars of the Revolution. Her Polks, her Grahams, her Brewards, Davies, Nashes, Alexanders, Moores, Lillingtons, Ashes, and a host of other brave and brilliant men, whose descendants exist, to this day, throughout the State, shed renown upon her name and have illustrated American history. To leave the State of North Carolina out of the drama of '76 would be to omit the leading character from a grand epic poem.

In the war with Mexico her sons imparted a fresh lustre to her character. No words are necessary to describe the part she acted in the late great struggle, which shook the continent and awed the world. Every battle-field from Gettysburg to the Rio Grande is eloquent of the heroism and the prowess of her citizen soldiery. They fought and fell for what they believed, honestly, to be the right, and History will have no fane in which their names will not be enrolled.

Her Executive chair has been adorned by a Caswell, a Johnston, an Iredell, an Owen, and by living statesmen whom it might be fulsome to name; her Bench has been filled by a Taylor, a Henderson, a Toomer, a Davie, a Gaston and a Badger; she has been represented, both in the State and National legislatures, by men who would have made their mark in any age or any country. She has sent out from her schools and her University those who have given character to other States and honorably filled the highest offices in the land. She is the mother of three Presidents of the Federal Union, and the Cabinet and the council have drawn their full quotas of statesmanship from her native store-houses.

She has always been devoted to the principles of Republican liberty, as embodied in the Federal Constitution, rightly interpreted. Her resistance, in the late revolution, was not to that Constitution, but to its attempted perversion.—She has fully submitted to the arbitrament of arms, cheerfully resumed her allegiance to the Union, and exhibited a spirit of loyalty which none but disappointed malignants will question.

She has been the home of modest merit, of order, of conservatism, of sturdy independence, of industry and of honesty. Her Constitution and laws, based upon the old English models, have been subjected to few of those innovations which a delusive progress has too often wrought elsewhere. They have thrown the shield of a beneficent protection over her citizens, who, in turn, have yielded them a reverential obedience. She has been true to her word, faithful to her obligations, and, in every stage of her history, equal to her glorious prestige.

This her sons have felt—felt, at all times and in all places, with virtuous exultation. Where is that child of hers, in or out of her limits, whose best emotions do not well up within him, as he dwells upon the goodly character of his native STATE of North Carolina?

Alas! there are a few such,—a few "souls so dead" that, instead of feeling a noble pride in the history of their State, they would, for the gratification of a petty spite, and from motives of frustrated ambition, parricidally pull her down from her lofty eminence, strip her of her garments of greatness, and degrade and prostitute her into a conquered and insignificant province,—would convert a State, that was settled by the best Cavaliers of the old world, into a subject territory, the sport and the victim of Radical zealots and malignants—would obliterate all her past renown beneath the pressure of a present ignominy,—would use the negro, who has been for nearly a century an object of humane care to her people, her rulers and her laws, as an instrument to destroy a government which was the work of the best and wisest of Anglo-Saxon fathers and patriots!

What words are sufficient to describe the scorn, the detestation, the execration, that are due such men!

Gov. WARD, of New Jersey, on yesterday, declared, in his message to the Legislature of that State, "that there is scarcely a semblance of vital loyalty throughout the States lately in rebellion." A man occupying his position ought to know whereof he affirms, in a statement of that kind, and that he can support it by irrefragable testimony. We affirm that, on a fair test, before responsible and respectable judges, North Carolina, this day, can show as good a record for loyalty, if we except the record of the so-called "Southern loyalists," as New Jersey or any other Northern State.

Gov. SWAIN'S LETTER.—The reader will be highly gratified in the perusal of the able letter of Gov. Swain to Hon. B. F. Perry, of South Carolina. It discusses in admirable spirit the legitimacy of the test oath, and test oaths in general.

Mr. Holden Again Among the Blacks.

We have urged upon intelligent gentlemen in the State, who feel a proper concern for the real welfare of our colored population, to embrace favorable opportunities to address them upon all subjects pertaining to their corporeal, mental and moral improvement, as the great means to the end of qualifying them for all the functions of a truly free people. Such addresses, on the days they celebrate their deliverance from bondage, are appropriate and will be profitable. We are, however, satisfied that addresses calculated to excite them to heated, and often unwise, measures to promote their political progress, are unsafe and injurious. What they are to be in the future, politically, ought to depend very much upon their habits and character.

For this reason, we could not approve of the political address and resolution submitted to the colored people of this city, by Mr. Holden, on the 1st day of January last, at the African Church. This "latter-day" love of Mr. Holden for the blacks cannot be misconstrued by the intelligent among them. White people here, who know him well, cannot mistake his motives.

On Monday night last, we learn that the members of the colored Loyal League, in this city, met at the African Church, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the National colored Loyal League in Washington city. This is a political organization, with political designs.—We learn that Mr. Holden was present and made another speech. We have not heard the particular points of the speech, but presume they were wholly political. We learn that he alluded to the threats made against him, and he charged the Sentinel with threatening to indict the getters up, the circulators and the signers of the memorial we have alluded to, asking Congress to supersede the present State government. We judge, from what we hear, the speech was inflammatory and incendiary.

First, we doubt if any sensible man in the community believes a word of the scare-crow anonymous communications containing threats, of which Mr. Holden complains, and with which he hopes to make capital. We have not the slightest ground for believing that Mr. Holden dreams of a personal attack, unless he first makes one. Our people respect the law, and will keep it, and no one thinks of doing him any personal injury. Secondly, it is not true that the Sentinel has threatened to indict any one. It had been suggested that the efforts of persons to overthrow the State government was such an infringement of our laws as subjected the violator to punishment, and we simply asked for information upon the subject, in order to guard ignorant persons against it. Mr. Holden's object, in introducing such matter as this in his addresses to the colored people, cannot be justified, even by himself. If he intends to abandon the whites altogether, and throw himself into the arms of the blacks, for the purpose, more effectually, to array the two races directly against each other, it is time the public knew it.

We learn that Handy Lockett, James A. Harris and James Jones, colored men of this City, were appointed delegates to Washington. Strange they should have left Mr. Holden out! We learn, however, that a Loyal League meeting of whites was held at High Point, on Monday, and attended by the junior Editor of the Standard. It is likely that that meeting put Mr. Holden among the delegates.

[For the Sentinel.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—On the 21st inst. the people of this city will hold the annual election for a Mayor and Board of Commissioners, to take in charge the municipal government of the city for the next twelve months. Is this not quite an important matter? Does it not demand that much more interest should be taken in it than has been the custom of a large number of tax-paying portion of our people for several years past.

It is to be hoped that every citizen, having an interest in the welfare of the community, (and what good citizen has not?) will give to this subject its proper consideration, and go to the polls, at the ensuing election, and cast their votes for the best men to fill the offices.

Our city charter invests the Mayor and Commissioners with large powers, which, if properly exercised, must tend to the well being and protection of all, and, as a natural consequence, to the improvement of the city, and the enhancement of the value of all city property. If improperly exercised, or inefficiency takes the place of vigor and a determination to enforce the laws properly, the result, as a matter of course, affects the character of the place and a depreciating tendency is the natural and sure result.

The Commissioners have the levying of taxes and the control of the expenditure of the amount raised, and in these times of scarcity of money, it is certainly important that the taxes should be justly laid and judiciously and economically expended. To do this, the members of the board should be men of practical and sound judgment, such as can discriminate properly in levying taxes and give an intelligent opinion as to how and when they shall be applied.

The Mayor, too, should be selected with a view to his fitness for so responsible a position. He should be capable of deciding properly, and of decision of character sufficient to compel the enforcement of the authority invested in him for the benefit of the whole community.

Let us all, then, think properly of this matter, and vote for such men, in our respective wards, as the importance of the matter demands.

A CITIZEN.

The Hartford Times states the issue thus:

"The war was waged against the South to preserve the Union, and to force their Representatives into Congress. Thad. Stevens, at the head of the Republican party, is now waging another and more dangerous war against the South, to keep the Union divided, and to force Southern Representatives out of Congress."

Referring to the proposition for territorializing the South, the New York Evening Post, relapsed Radical, says, and concedes: "The territorial project is repugnant to a great number of the most patriotic and liberty-loving men in the land, and is clearly extra-constitutional.'

The New York Tribune says: "It is not much to be a Republican to-day. "We take with us now the drift wood and scum." And a quantity of it there is to be sure!

Congress, whilst swearing that the Southern States are not States, swear vengeance against them unless they act as States.

Third Letter of Hon. D. L. Swain, to the Hon. B. F. Perry, of South Carolina.

CHAPEL HILL, Jan. 7, 1867.

MY DEAR SIR:—I intimated, at the close of my last letter, my intention to discuss, at some future time, questions connected with the Test Oath. Some previous reference to my personal history is perhaps necessary to a correct comprehension of my views in relation to that and the kindred subjects which at present engross attention.

On my return to Raleigh from holding the Courts in the Western Circuit, in November 1832, I found the General Assembly engaged in a protracted contest for the gubernatorial chair. Three gentlemen were in nomination, the late Gov. Branch, the late Gov. Spaight and Gen. Thomas G. Polk. Gen. Polk was the candidate of the Whig party, was well known as the personal and political friend of Gen. Jackson, and the opponent of nullification and a protective tariff. It was pretty well ascertained that he could not be elected, and he and his political friends were anxious for his withdrawal and the substitution of my name in the canvass. I yielded most reluctantly to the solicitation, and served the full constitutional term of three years. Before the acceptance of a seat upon the Bench, I had represented my native county for five years in the General Assembly and had no disposition to return to political life. Nothing but a conviction, that in the impending crisis, the State had a right to require the services of every citizen, in the station which promised most usefulness, could have induced me to consent to a transfer from the judicial to the Executive Department of the government.

At the close of my gubernatorial career on the 10th of December 1835, I was called to the position I now occupy, and from a sense of duty, as well as inclination, have from that time to the present carefully abstained from all connection with party politics. I was satisfied from the beginning that the success and usefulness of the University would be essentially promoted by preserving its entire independence of all parties, political and religious. My duties, as a Lecturer on Political Economy and Constitutional law, called for frequent and full discussions of the revenue system and the theory of our government. My opinions, in relation to Protective Tariffs, Nullification and Secession, have undergone no change, and no one, of the more than fifteen hundred young men who listened to me, was ever left in doubt with reference to them. From the first entrance, upon my duties here, more than 31 years ago, I have rarely been present at a political meeting, and never when I could properly avoid it. In no instance was I ever seduced into the discussion of any mere question of party politics. I attended neither of the great assemblages at Raleigh which welcomed the advent of Mr. Clay in 1844 and Mr. Webster in 1847.

When, in 1860, however, the doctrine of secession was discussed in every hamlet, and the disruption of the government was imminent, I deemed it my duty to stand forth in defence of the Union. I consider the duty no less imperative at the present moment to contribute such influence and argument as I may be able to wield in opposition to a proposition to amend the Constitution, which, in my estimation, threatens a radical change in the structure of the government and the frame work of society. On the 21st of December, 1860, I attended a meeting of the citizens of this village, and on the following day addressed a large assembly of the citizens of Orange County, at Hillsboro'. The "Hillsboro' Plain Dealer," of the 20th of February, 1860, edited by T. L. Cooley, at present an employee in the office of the New York Tribune, refers to it in the following terms: "The State Journal, in publishing a list of the candidates for seats in the Convention, divides them into two columns, one headed "Union" the other "State Rights." Under the latter head it places the names of the Hon. Wm. A. Graham and Hon. D. L. Swain. We think the Journal is mistaken. We do not so understand their positions. Gov. Graham is a Union man—strongly addicted to the "Watch and Wait policy." Gov. Swain recently declared, in a public speech, in this town, that the Union must and should be preserved. Dr. Pride Jones and Henry K. Nash, Esq., are the States Rights candidates." Gov. Graham and Capt. Berry, the soundest of Conservatives, were the candidates and were elected, and both of them, on the day of their election, voted again the calling of a Convention. The proposition to call a Convention was rejected by the large majority of the people of the State at that time opposed to secession. They were both subsequently elected to the Convention which was called to meet on the 20th of May.

On the 29th January the General Assembly "Resolved, that for the purpose of effecting an honorable and amicable adjustment of all the difficulties that distract the country upon the basis of the Crittenden resolutions, as modified by the Legislature of Virginia, the Hon. Thomas Ruffin, of Alamance, D. M. Barringer, David S. Reid, John M. Morehead and George Davis be appointed Commissioners" to attend the Peace Congress at Washington City on the 4th February, and "that the Hon. David L. Swain, M. W. Ransom and John L. Bridgers be appointed Commissioners to visit Montgomery for the purposes above indicated." The failure of these overtures was not owing to any want of zeal or fidelity on the part of the Commissioners from North Carolina, either at Washington or Montgomery.

The current then setting in favor of secession, owing to the want of energy on the part of Mr. Buchanan's administration, and the rashness of his successor, soon became irresistible. The Proclamation of the 15th of April dissipated the last hope of compromise. The Convention of 1861 was called. Gov. Graham and Capt. Berry, as above stated, were re elected delegates from Orange, and the late eminent and estimable statesman, Mr. Badger, my comparatively young friend, Kemp P. Battle, Esq., the present Public Treasurer, and Ex-Provisional Governor Holden, were returned as delegates from the adjoining metropolitan County of Wake.

Although every one knew that secession was inevitable, it was not apparent, until organization was attempted, that well-defined party lines would mark its composition, exhibiting the original secessionists on one side and those characterized at the time as advocates of "the watch and wait policy" on the other. The Hon. Weldon N. Edwards, and the Hon. Wm. A. Graham were the respective nominees for the Presidency. The former was elected by a vote of 65 to 48. It was soon understood that the minority, though stigmatized as laggards, would not be found wanting in the hour of trial, and that each would emulate the other in noble daring. The ordinance of secession, and the ordinance to ratify the Constitution of the Confederate States of America, were adopted immediately and unanimously, and then, as recorded in the published Journal of the Convention, "at half past six o'clock, P. M., the ever memorable twentieth day of May, the Convention adjourned until to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock."

On the following 12th of June, at 4 P. M., Gov. Ellis communicated Col. Hill's dispatch, announcing the success of our army at Bethel Church, near Hampton, which was read "amidst the almost unrestrained enthusiasm of the Convention." Mr. Badger, who nominated Gov. Graham for the Presidency of the Convention, and who was at all times eminently conservative, proposed a vote of thanks to the Governor "and to assure him of the readiness with which this Convention will co-operate with him in offering any testimonial of honor and grateful acknowledgement to the gallant Commander and the officers and soldiers under his command," which the Governor might recommend. From this moment until the final adjournment it was the proud boast of all, that North Carolina, though last in the field, was foremost in the fight, and such will be the recorded verdict of history in relation to the part she bore from the beginning to the close of this civil war.

The last resolution offered on the last day of the session, 13th May, 1862, was by Gov. Holden, "Resolved, unanimously by this Convention, that the thanks of the people of North Carolina are due and are hereby tendered to the ladies of the State for the contributions which they have made to the Confederate cause, and for the patriotic ardor which they have exhibited in behalf of the country in the prosecution of the war."

Although from the beginning of the first to the close of the fourth session of the Convention there was but one opinion as to the justice of the war, and a unanimous determination to prosecute it to the utmost extent of our resources in money and men,—the same line of demarcation exhibited in the election of President was discernible in relation to many important measures. The cases are very rare in which the President's and Gov. Graham's names are recorded together in a call for the yeas and nays, and the instances in which the Orange and Wake delegates do not stand together quite as small in number. I recollect no instance of a difference of opinion upon any fundamental principle.

The discussion and votes in connection with the ordinance concerning test oaths and sedition may be referred to as affording a most striking illustration, not merely of unanimity but hearty concurrence of opinion. I read Gov. Graham's great speech on that occasion in my sick room, and expressed the opinion, in the earliest letter that I was able to write, that I knew of no instance in the history of North Carolina legislation which had called forth so able a vindication of the fundamental principles of civil liberty and constitutional law. A large edition was published and it has been widely disseminated. A copy ought to be placed in the hands of every member of the Congress of the United States, whether they will hear or forbear. I have received the thanks of some of our most eminent statesmen for supplying them with copies of this speech, and the most admirable address delivered before the Literary Societies of the University, by the late Judge Gaston, at the Annual Commencement in June, 1832. The latter has passed through five editions, one with the imprimatur of Chief Justice Marshall, and has probably been more widely disseminated than any other similar address ever delivered in the United States.

The Test Oath Ordinance was rejected on the 3rd May, 1862, by the decisive vote of 79 to 22, in a body where Gov. Graham was ordinarily in a minority on all party questions.

The Test Oath rejected by North Carolina as inexpedient and unconstitutional even in time of war:

"I, A B., do solemnly swear (or affirm as the case may be) that I will bear faithful and true allegiance to the State of North Carolina, and will to the utmost of my power, support, maintain and defend the independent government of the Confederate States of America against the government of the United States, or any other power, that by open force or otherwise shall attempt to subvert the same. I do hereby renounce all allegiance to the government of the United States, and I will support and defend the Constitution of the Confederate States of America, and the Constitution of this State not inconsistent with the Constitution of the Confederate States, so help me God."

The Test Oath adopted by Congress on the 2nd July, 1862, just two months after the rejection of the former by North Carolina, and now proposed to be applied to Southern rebels in time of peace, is in the following words:

"I, ——, do solemnly —— that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the United States since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel, or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have neither sought, nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, authority, power, or constitution, within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto. And I do further —— that, to the best of my knowledge and ability, I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter: So help me God."

The Test Oath proposed by Mr. Stevens in "A Bill" to enable the States lately in rebellion to regain their privileges in the Union, is as follows:

"I, A. B., do solemnly swear on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God, that on the 4th day of March, 1864, and at all times thereafter, I would willingly have complied with the requirements of the Proclamation of the President of the United States, issued on the 8th day of December, 1863, had a safe opportunity of so doing been allowed; and that on the said 4th of March, 1864, and all times thereafter, I was opposed to the continuance of the rebellion, and to the establishment of the so-called Confederate Government, and voluntarily gave no aid and comfort thereto, but earnestly desired the success of the Union and the suppression of armed resistance to the Government of the United States; and that I will henceforth faithfully support the Constitution of the United States and the Union of the States thereunder."

Were the Southern States in the contemplation of Congress, at the time the act, July 2d., 1862, was passed? Was it regarded by the Attorney General, at the close of the war, as applicable to Southern rebels? If so, why was not Governor Holden required to take it? I will not press the inquiry further at present. I may have occasion to return to it hereafter, nevertheless.

In my letter to you of the 19th. of November I made the following statement: "My acquaintance with prominent men throughout the State is perhaps as general as that of any other citizen, and yet I do not know of a single instance, in any one of the congressional districts, of a person who can honestly take the test oath who in 1860 would have regarded himself, or was considered by others, as one of the number who might reasonably aspire to a seat in the National Councils." That letter has been widely published in the State, and if there be in any district a supposed exceptional case, no one has ventured to give the name.

In my second letter, written on the 7th. December, I give the names of the nine gentlemen of unquestionable loyalty, selected from the entire State by Governor Holden and General Schofield, and summoned by the President to assist him in the rehabilitation of the State. I repeat that there are few gentlemen in North Carolina so familiar with persons of every shade of political opinion as the Governor, and I put the question emphatically, if he could find no competent person who can honestly sustain such a test, who can?

With respect to the third formula, in the above category, devised as it seems by Governor Holden, and the adoption of which is now earnestly urged by him, I object to it, as obnoxious to all the reasoning of Governor Graham in December 1861, so heartily and repeatedly endorsed by Governor Holden. I object to it as setting a dangerous trap for mens' consciences, and offering the most tempting bribes for the commission of perjury. I object to it as having a tendency to array neighborhood against neighborhood, and man against man, for years to come, and lastly, I object to it as impracticable and absurd.

I have no hesitation in expressing the opinion that, if the question could be propounded on oath to-morrow, nine-tenths of the voters of North Carolina would be compelled to swear that, on the 4th. of March, 1864, they did not know that the President of the United States had issued any Proclamation on the 8th. day of December 1863; nay more, that at the present moment they did not know what were the conditions of amnesty proposed by that proclamation. If called upon to state whether they voted for Governor Holden or Governor Vance, they would respond very readily, but the answer returned would be a most uncertain and unsatisfactory test of true loyalty to the Union.

There were as good men and as able men as any among the Peace Party (so called) in 1863, most anxiously desirous of obtaining peace upon the best terms, or any reasonable terms, who were opposed to separate State action, as unavoidably tending to produce internecine war, who were unwilling to countenance measures which they supposed would secure such a peace as prevailed then, and exists now, in East Tennessee, and portions of Kentucky and Missouri. They assented to secession at first to prevent internecine war; they did not deem it advisable to attempt to retrace their steps, until they could move in solid column, and this they supposed could only be expected through the Confederate government. They favored a negotiation at Fortress Monroe, but did not think it advisable to array the State against the Confederacy, at a time when, if such a course had been adopted, no man could have opened his door, night or day, without shuddering.

But we are urged to adopt the Howard amendment, and rely upon Congressional clemency to be wisely and liberally extended by a two thirds vote. Experience is the wisest, if dearest, of teachers. You have no more confidence in the ability, integrity and patriotism of President Johnson than I have. He does not know the people of his native State, however, as well as I do, or of South Carolina as you do. Governor Holden, though the pardoning power was, to a great extent, in his hands, if he will examine the yeas and nays on test questions in the Convention, and the names of the most prominent persons pardoned throughout the State, will be constrained to admit that the Conservative party, to which he belonged, has not been remarkably favored, to say the least.

How are two-thirds of Congress to ascertain the true character of each of the 100,000 voters in North Carolina, or the million in the ten Southern States? What we have witnessed in the green tree admonishes us to beware of in the dry.

Though not a very old man, I am the oldest College President in the United States, the oldest with a single exception of the surviving Judges of the Superior Courts, and the oldest of the surviving Ex-Governors of North Carolina. My three immediate successors are in the grave. I never sought office under any Government and was complained of by Mr. Buchanan as unjust to my native State in declining a compliment tendered by him. I neither sought nor desired office under the Confederacy. On the contrary I declined a seat in the Confederate Senate, most earnestly pressed upon me by my personal friend Gov. Vance. I am the only person in North Carolina who has taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States in all three of the departments of the State Government. I never took an oath to support the Confederate Constitution, and never expect to take any oath that, in my judgement, involves a violation of the Constitution of the United States. "Confidence is a plant of slow growth in an aged bosom." There can be very few who will win my confidence by taking either of the test oaths at present tendered to the rebellious States.

Perhaps the most touching incident ever witnessed in our House of Commons was at the close of the discussion on a Bill, introduced by a rash, reckless, fascinating young man, to confiscate the entire banking capital of the State. Since 1783 and the paralysis of all our productive resources, by the policy adopted by the government at the termination of the late civil war, no such period of financial difficulty is known to our history as the commercial crisis of 1828. At the close of a thrilling appeal to preserve the public faith untarnished, to recoil with horror from an attempt in which defeat would be disgrace and success ruin, the simple exclamation, in tremulous accents and from quivering lips, "North Carolina is a poor, but thank God an honest State; here I drew my first breath, and here with His blessing I hope to heave my last sigh," produced a scene from which the pencil of Alston might have gathered inspiration. No pen can depict the great emotion produced by the magic voice and manner of the great statesman. His collected speeches in opposition to nullification would be a suitable library companion for those of the great expounder of the Constitution. His tongue is dust. His compeers Badger and Stanly, Cameron and Morehead, are with him in the grave, but their united voices in behalf of the State and Union they loved and served so well are heard at the Great Tribunal before which all tyrants tremble.

If Congress desires to restore harmony, to establish a perfect and perpetual Union, let them discard all test oaths as wanting in magnanimity, impractible and absurd, and unite with the President in proclaiming universal amnesty! "Such chains as these were sure to bind."

Adopt either of the proposed tests on the other hand—send forth inquisitors to apply it, as Gov. Tryon sent the minions of royalty on a similar mission, in 1771, to the vanquished Regulators at Alamance, and in a State proverbial for sobriety, integrity and untarnished faith, more perjuries will be committed in an hour, than have been punished by our Courts since the Mecklenburg Convention.

Very sincerely. Yours,
D. L. SWAIN.

THE SENTINEL.
Wednesday Evening, Jan. 9, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—See Court notices from Wake.

The fine steamer "Peruvian" will sail from Norfolk for Liverpool direct on the 30th. Applications for freight should be made immediately. A. M. McPheeters, Esq. is the agent in this city.

J. A. Peterson & Co., 121 Sycamore Street, Petersburg, are prepared to fill orders for all laborers.

Come to the Sheriff's Office and pay your taxes. See Mr. Ray's gentle reminder.

THE YOUNG MEN'S Christian Association, of Raleigh, respectfully announce to the public the following facts, which, it is hoped, will, of themselves, be sufficient appeal for assistance in this time of urgent pressure:

Since the 11th of December more than forty different families, consisting, frequently, of several helpless persons, have been aided by the Young Men's Christian Association. During this time, not quite a month, more than one hundred and fifty dollars worth of wood and provisions have been supplied to the suffering poor, some of every different denomination.—The demands for aid have been especially urgent during this period of severe cold.

It may not be improper to state, and it will be interesting to our citizens to know, that many of those who have thus been helped are the widows and orphans of deceased Confederate soldiers. In most cases these would have been left helpless with large families dependent upon them, and, during this exceedingly inclement weather, are deprived of their usual sources of income, and painfully destitute of the necessaries of life. It has been difficult, indeed, always to discriminate justly, so as to aid the suffering and virtuous, without encouraging idleness and vice. But the claims of common humanity sometimes compel to afford assistance to those who are in actual distress.

Yet by far the greater number of those, who have sought and received aid, are either known personally or recommended by responsible parties, as honest, industrious and worthy people. Many of them are sewing-women, who in olden days made their comfortable living by sewing the summer and winter clothing of servants in different families. Nearly every one who has received help is the widow or child of some man whose life was given at the call of his State. Some have taken in washing as a means of livelihood, (and in all such employments the freed people form such formidable competitors) but in this extreme weather can neither obtain or endure the labour. And, indeed, usually these persons could sustain themselves if they could secure the work; but are now unable to do this and suffer in consequence.

The details of this are harrowing, in many cases, and enough to touch the hardest heart. Many have been without food at all, except as supplied by charity, and perhaps most of them without meat or anything else but dry bread. Many have been compelled, for their comfort, to cut down the shade trees in the yard, to use fencing, and sometimes furniture, as fire-wood!

The relief furnished by the Association has, in every instance, been given in the smallest quantities, just sufficient to relieve immediate, pressing want. But the funds of the Association are nearly expended. Shall this labor of love fail because of this need? Will not the citizens of Raleigh promptly respond, as indeed many have already done, and enable the Association to continue their charitable efforts? At a meeting held Monday night, the following gentlemen were requested to act as a Committee to solicit funds in this juncture:

Rev. Henry Hardie, Rev. W. J. W. Crowder, Col. Wm. E. Anderson and P. F. Pescud. Any contributions, whether of money, wood or provisions, thankfully received and faithfully distributed.

THE Charlotte Times says that Mr. William McCord has discovered on his land, four miles from that city, a rich vein of Gold, which promises, on development, splendid results.

COMPANY SHOPS.—At the municipal election held at this place, on the 29th. ult., the following gentlemen were elected viz: Mayor, Dr. John A. Moore; Commissioners, W. C. Tarpley, J. G. Moore, B. E. Sergeant, Jos. C. Holt and A. C. McAlister.

MUNICIPAL.—Our correspondent, "A Citizen," does not exaggerate the importance of our charter elections. We hope that our townsmen will heed his timely suggestions, and vote, at the election which is to be held on the 21st inst., for such men as will efficiently discharge their municipal trusts. These elections have been too often allowed heretofore to go by default.

"THE LAND WE LOVE."—We take pleasure in transferring to our columns the following handsome notice of Gen. Hill's admirable magazine from the Richmond Enquirer. We hope that the second volume begins under favorable auspices. It would be a crying shame that a magazine of such unusual excellence, so true to Southern character and Southern honor, should be suffered to languish. We have no fears of such a result, however. Independently of the merits of the publication, there is, as the Enquirer truly says, a "a warm corner in the heart of every Southern man for that old soldier and christian, D. H. Hill:"

"THE LAND WE LOVE."—This admirable Southern magazine, published by Hill & Irwin, at Charlotte, N. C., is in its 2nd volume. This speaks well for the spirit of the Southern public, who seem determined to build up a home literature. No enterprise in the literary line has been so well sustained as this. There is a warm corner in the heart of every Southern man for that old soldier and Christian, D. H. Hill, and he knows it. Few men could have built up a paper in so short a time as he has, and the truth of it is, that he admits no articles to its columns that are not of the very best, and his contributors are Southern born and bred. We are glad to know that the circulation of the Magazine is increasing all the time, and that he is able to pay something to his contributors,—an earnest of what he will do in the course of time. The December number is before us, replete with most wholesome matter. It is a fireside number for a winter evening, containing Gen. Hampton's report of the engagement at Sappony Church; "Holly and Cypress," by Mrs. Fanny Downing—one of the prettiest female writers in the South, of whom our friends of the old North State may well feel proud; "The Crimes of Philanthropy," by Prof. R. L. Dabney; "Cæsar and Cleopatra," by J. Agustine Signisigo; "The Mineral Wealth of Virginia," by Prof. J. L. Campbell, of Washington College, Va., and many other articles of equal worth. We miss, however, from this number, the name of Fanny Fielding, of Virginia, whose articles for some months have graced the columns of the Magazine, and hope that her absence is only temporary. Her sketches of the old homesteads of Virginia, &c., have been very highly spoken of and evince a high order of talent.—Richmond Enquirer."

ARRESTS IN NORTH CAROLINA.—Robert C. Kehoe, United States Deputy for the Eastern District of North Carolina, reports the arrest of the following parties:

Hodge Owens was arrested at Roanoke Island on the 18th of December and was taken to Elizabeth City on the 22nd of Dec. Jordan Parker was arrested on Powell's Point, not far from Currituck Sound. John Parker was arrested at Buck Horn plantation, Currituck county. Dr. Joseph Baxter was arrested on the 23d of December, at the place called Sligo, in Currituck county. David McLindsey was arrested on the 24th of December, at his own house in Currituck county, near the court house. They were brought before His Honor, Judge Brooks, at Elizabeth City, for examination on Christmas day. The examination lasted three days, and the accused were bound over in the sum of $6,000 each, for their appearance at Raleigh before the U. S. Circuit Court to be held the first Monday in June, 1867.

The above parties are charged with robbing and plundering the schooner Lottie in Currituck Sound, in the year 1864.

The charge before Hon. Geo. Brooks, Judge of the District Court, was Piracy.—Norfolk Day Book.

MARRIED.

In this City, on last evening, the 8th inst., by Rev. Mr. Howell, Mr. JOHN B. COLLINS, of Granville County, to Miss INDIANA GEORGIA ROYSTER, daughter of Jas. D. Royster, Esq., of this City.

DIED.

In Scotland Neck, Mrs. ANN EVANS, aged 78 years. On the last day of the past year, her birth-day, this faithful servant of God left the shadows of time for the light of eternity. She had lived the life of the righteous, and her death was blessed like theirs.

Her long and useful course was marked by great earnestness of purpose; by a diligent discharge of all the social duties of life; by abundant charity and benevolent deeds; seeking the good and happiness of others more than her own. She suffered in her latter days a great and painful malady, with all a martyr's fortitude and patience, and with such christian meekness and cheerfulness, as was the comfort and admiration of all about her.

She passed gladly to her rest, in the full assurance of a blessed immortality through the grace of her Redeemer, and has left to her numerous family and friends a holy example to follow up to that better world whither she has gone.

Our Monday Morning Dispatches.

Congresssonal.

WASHINGTON, Jan 7, P. M.

HOUSE.—A message was received from the Senate, announcing the passage of the Suffrage Bill over the Veto. The message was read and the bill passed notwithstanding—Yeas 113, Nays 38.

A motion to adjourn, in honor of the Battle of New Orleans, was negatived. When the motion was made, Ashley, of Ohio, said: "Oh! that is played out." A member not recognized said: "Jackson is dead." At this point of the proceedings the regular Congressional report says, in parenthesis, "Laughter."

Wentworth introduced the following:

"Whereas there is a difference of opinion upon the subject of impartial suffrage, and whereas, it is legalized only in the District of Columbia, and is to be made a test here;

Therefore, Resolved, That the Committee on the District of Columbia be instructed to enquire into the expediency of an immediate election of all officers in said District."

Mr. Randall objected.

SENATE.—Several petitions relative to the Military and Tariff presented, and one by Sumner from a mass meeting of negroes, against the admission of Nebraska with the word white in her Constitution.

The President was requested to furnish information whether the Civil Rights Bill had been violated, and whether action had been taken to enforce its provisions.

The Judiciary Committee are determined immediately to proceed to investigate the impeachment matter. Its author, Ashley, is summoned to give evidence at 10 o'clock to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.

At a commemorative dinner in this city, on yesterday, Mr. Montgomery Blair said:

"I break in upon the regular order of proceedings to announce that I am delegated by the committee of Arrangements to propose the health of the President of the United States."

The toast was drunk amid great and prolonged cheers.

The President replied: "Gentlemen: It is not my purpose, in rising, to make an address on this occasion, and I shall try, at this opportunity, at least, if I have not or cannot in others, to imitate the example that has been set by the distinguished and illustrious man that has been alluded to here to-night by the Chairman of this meeting. I respond to the demonstration you have made this evening, by merely proposing a sentiment: 'No State, of its own will, has the right, under the Constitution, to renounce its place in or withdraw from the Union. ("Cheers.") Nor has the Congress of the United States, under the Constitution, the power to degrade the people of any State, by reducing them to the condition of a mere territorial dependency upon the federal head. The one is a disruption and dissolution of the government; the other is consolidation and the exercise of despotic power. The advocates of either are alike the enemies of the Union and of our federal form of government."

PERUVIAN GUANO SUBSTITUTE!

BAUGH'S
RAW BONE SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

TRADE MARK

Manufactured under the formula originated in 1854 and patented by

BAUGH & SONS,
SOLE PROPRIETORS, AT THE
Delaware River Chemical Works,
PHILADELPHIA, U. S. A.

This old established MANURE is manufactured from Bones that have not been burned or steamed, and it contains all their original organic matter. It is active in its operation, and is a fertilizer of great durability. It does not exhaust the soil like Peruvian Guano, but on the contrary permanently improves it. Previous to 1861 it was introduced into the Southern States to considerable extent, and again in 1865, where it has been used with remarkable success upon Cotton, Corn, Tobacco, and all Crops.

A trial will convince any planter of its merits.—Pamphlets containing well-known southern evidence furnished upon application to New York or Philadelphia offices.

☞ Sold by Dealers in all the principal cities and towns throughout the United States and British Provinces.

The tract of land embraces about 4,000 acres; about 700 is cleared and ready for cultivation, and about 300 yet to clear. The balance woodland with Pine, Cypress and Oak growth. It is, without exception, better adapted to the cultivation of
